A ROUND OF TALK.

Homesick.

Will Weston.
I'd like to go back and live the old days over.
To drive the cows to pasture down the lane.
And wade, barefooted, through fields of fragrant clover.
And hear the thrushes sing their songs again.
I'd like to sit within the maple's shadow.
And watch the swallows nest beneath the eaves.
To hear the red wing way down in the meadow.
Sing over his nest well hid amid the leaves.
I'm sick of city noise and roar and clamor.
With men and women rushing to and fro.
Mad with the lust for gold, crazed with the love of money.
I want to go back where fragrant breezes blow.
I'd like to go back and leave the endless striving.
To those who like this weary way the best.
I want to try the dear old way of living.
And put my head in mother's lap and rest.

HIS "IT." Under this provision of the local option law the practicing physician, in counties where local option prevails, will be a personage of importance and a friend in need to many a poor sufferer. The new county unit local option law excepts in its prohibition provisions druggists and physicians, who are allowed to handle liquor and to have in their possession an amount not to exceed five gallons at one time. In the question to be voted on in this county and in other counties the prohibitory clause is made to apply to the druggists who will not be allowed to sell liquor on prescription are in any other way, nor or they be permitted to order or receive any intoxicating liquors or to have the same in their possession. This additional prohibitory clause is however not made to apply to practicing physicians who are allowed to keep liquor in quantities not to exceed five gallons and to dispense same to patients as they see fit. The doctor therefore is likely to grow more and more popular in certain districts. Of course to reputable physician will abuse the privilege thus granted him and dispense liquor indiscriminately but he is permitted to prescribe and furnish liquor to such patients as he believes are in need of such a remedy and he is to be the sole judge of the needs of his patients. It looks to us as if the law was faulty in that regard, for while as we said before we do not believe any physician of good standing in the community will abuse the privilege yet it opens the way for those who are not over scrupulous. There is no way to stop it should a man with a license to practice, choose to prescribe and dispense liquor for his patient's. He is to be the sole judge of their needs.

FEELING GOOD—W. D. Claybrook of this place is feeling highly elated over the prospects of his candidate Hubert Vreeland winning the Democratic nomination for Secretary of State. The indications are that Vreeland will have a walk over in the primary as M. V. Chin is hesitating about entering the race and there is no other candidate spoken of. Mr. Claybrook is promised the position of Assistant Secretary in the event of Mr. Vreeland's election.

TYPHOID FEVER—The Kentucky Board of Health has issued a circular calling attention to the increasing prevalence and mortality from typhoid fever and offering some useful suggestions as to the prevention of the spread of the contagion. Springfield and Washington county has suffered the loss of a large number of useful citizens from this dread disease within the past few years. Reports show that in Kentucky last year there were 13,305 cases and 1,579 deaths from typhoid, chiefly con-

ROAD TALK.

A Few Suggestions From a Correspondent on the Subject.

It has been quite a while since our columns have mentioned the roads. Our roads are something of general importance to the welfare of our County and I feel that the subject should be more talked of, and the results "will out" sometime or other. I took note of an article in our local paper recently in which it disclosed the fact that the Government desired to build one mile of pipe in every county in each state, for a sample, lesson to the road builders, as to how it should be done. This mile of road was to be constructed at the expense of Uncle Sam, who would also furnish the machinery. This little proposition may not have attracted the attention of our road representatives, who I dare say need no instructions along this line, however I do believe it would prove beneficial to the general public to have the U. S. do this, and follow the example.

Our roads are, as a general rule, in a fair condition, yet they could be much improved if it should be tried. One road master says, at present, using every energy possible to improve our roads, yet he is powerless to do so. He is a poor fellow, and possibly save much labor and expense as well as metal for the road if they had the proper knowledge of road building. We are never too old to learn something, and should they secure a piece of work by experts and follow their plan it will doubtless prove a success.

PROSPEROUS FAIR.

Although wet weather considerably hindered the showing of stock and the progress of the Harrodsburg fair Tuesday and Wednesday the management was encouraged Thursday and Friday by a large crowd of people that filled the grandstand and grounds to overflowing. In years gone by the capital of Mercer supported one of the best fairs in the country, but later the old association quit on account of lack of interest and for several years the fair was closed. The new association organized three years ago has put the old time spirit in the people again. —Advocate.

She Tried Five Doctors.

Mrs. Frances L. Sales, of Missouri Valley, Ia., writes: "I have been afflicted with kidney trouble five years, had severe pains in my back and frontal desire to urinate. When riding I experienced much pain over the region of the kidneys. I tried five physicians without benefit and was finally cured by Dr. Fowler's Kidney Cure. After taking three bottles I was completely cured." Sold by Red Cross Drug Store.

Cost of Primary.

According to Chairman McQuinn there is very little prospect of a reduction in the cost of the State primary from the original estimate, $40,000. The expense will be apportioned among the various races, the candidates for an office dividing the amount assigned to that particular race. In a Governor's race, for instance, the apportionment, it is thought, will be $8,000, not exceeding $10,000, at any rate, as the race now stands each of the two candidates will have to contribute $4,000 or $5,000. The cost for entering the other race will be less, the fees being graded according to the importance and emoluments of the office. The greater the number of candidates for any office, therefore the less it will cost each candidate, individually. This, however, will not induce the man after an office to solicit opposition. He would rather bear the burden of the expense alone than to run the risk of losing his race by sharing the cost with other candidates. It is unfortunate that the cost of running for office is almost prohibitive, for a poor man absolutely so, but there seems to be no help for it. It has been decreed that the candidates shall be selected at a primary election. A primary, it seems, is a very costly method, although undoubtedly the fairest way to determine the people's choice. If this plan is to prevail then there is nothing to do but put up the money or keep out of politics. The ambition of many aspirants for office will be squelched by the price.—Danville Advocate.

Mad Bull.

Col. E. H. Gaither, the well known attorney came near losing his life Sunday afternoon in an encounter with an enraged bull in the woodland surrounding the Asylum lake. The animal, which is a thoroughbred and a very valuable one, is owned by Colonel Gaither, and has heretofore been as docile as a lamb, excepting on one or two occasions, when he showed a disposition of fight. Sunday afternoon he suddenly showed bad temper.

Friends Deserting.

A mild political sensation was caused in Owensboro by the publication of an interview given out by Judge E. P. Taylor, clerk of the Daviess County Court, one of the best known politicians of West Kentucky, to the effect that he thought Democrats of Kentucky would make a great mistake if they failed to endorse Senator McCrory's candidacy for reelection to the Senate. Judge Taylor, who declares for McCrory, has been one of the Beckham leaders in West Kentucky in the past. He has just returned from a meeting of the County Clerks of the State at Elizabethtown and says that he found sentiment almost unanimous for McCrory.

Another Good Man Gone Wrong.
He neglected to take Fowler's kidney cure at the first signs of kidney trouble, hoping it would "go away," and was soon a victim of Bright's disease. This is a danger in delay, but if Fowler's Kidney Cure is taken at once the symptoms will disappear, the kidneys are strengthened and you are soon sound and well. A. R. Bass of Morgantown, Ind., had to get up ten or twelve times in the night, and had a severe backache and pains in the kidneys; and was cured by Fowler's Kidney Cure. Sold at Red Cross Drug Store.

Greatest Harvest on Record.

The advocates of the July crop report is indicating the greatest harvest on record. And this despite the known shortage in the oats crop. Coupled with this prediction based on present conditions is the report that Europe will be short about 150,000,000 bushels in its yield of wheat. Oats on July 1 were estimated to be 80,000,000 bushels behind the prospects at this time last year, but the acreage is somewhat larger and this deficit may be reduced somewhat by harvest time. Corn is now nearly 40,000,000 bushels ahead of the July indications of a year ago, but of course the crop is in its early stages. Only 40,000,000 bushels of wheat were carried over in farmers' hands and counting this reserve we have the largest wheat supply in sight that the country has ever known. The winter wheat exceeds the memorable crop of 1901, and the spring wheat promises to outstrip all former records of yield. The short straw, some miscalculations. The farmer's returns indicate exceptionally heavy yields of all grain.

Sour Mash Brown.

Whitesburg, Ky.—Single-handed Deputy United States Marshal P. M. Blair fought the noted moonshiner, "Sour Mash" Brown, near Beethide, in this county yesterday.

The shiner was armed with a revolver and shotgun, while Blair had his trusty brace of revolvers. Blair ran across Brown unexpectedly. He had been hunting him for months, and while stopping at a farm house yesterday he was informed that Brown was operating a still near by. He decided to investigate, and if he found the still to go back and summons a posse to capture it.

As he went along the road he met Brown, who recognized him and retreated to a house near by where he prepared to resist arrest. Blair by pretending not to recognize Brown, rode up and made inquiries regarding some persons residing up the creek, then rode off, but returned and engaged Brown in conversation. Brown pretended to be working on his shotgun, and Blair got the drop on him. Blair will take a posse and capture the still next week. Brown was held to the United States Court at Frankfort under $1,000 bond by Commissioner Baker today.

The Fair.

The Washington County Fair is on this week and a big crowd is in attendance. Yesterday was one of the biggest first days in the history of the fair. There is a splendid lot of horses on the grounds and the exhibition of fine stock proves to be the best ever had. To-day is schoolchildren day. Tomorrow and Saturday offer great attractions.

Lawn Fete.

A public lawn fete will be given in the High School grounds on Wednesday, August 29 from 3 p.m. to 11 p.m. the proceeds from which will be used to purchase a piano for the Primary Department in the High School. Refreshments will be served and vocal and instrumental music furnished throughout. The lawn in front of the school building will be beautifully decorated with lanterns arranged in the school colors. It is hoped that this entertainment will be generously attended by old and young as the proceeds are used in a worthy cause. Under modern methods music is a necessary part of the school course, being indispensable in the primary department and all first-class schools have piano in the department. It is for your children and you owe it to them to encourage them in their work and at the same time you have an opportunity to spend a pleasant evening. Miss Emma Nunan will have charge of the arrangements
